

Job position

R&D Scientist

First permanent position post PhD

About MS-Nutrition

MS-Nutrition (Modelling and Statistics for nutrition) makes easier the realization of scientific projects in both nutrition and public health. We develop innovative tools based on operational research that translate nutritional needs into realistic food choices integrating the complexity of sustainability. MS-Nutrition's partners are both private and public research teams.

For more information, please visit www.ms-nutrition.com

MS-Nutrition is hiring a R&D Scientist

Responsibilities

Contribute to the development of our operational research approaches

Carry out research projects from the idea to the deliverables

Write scientific papers and give oral presentation

Key requirements

PhD (public health, nutrition, epidemiology)

Competence in statistics with knowledge in statistical software such as R/SAS

Fluent in English (written and oral)

Ability to work in a team

Organization skills

First permanent position post PhD

Location: Faculty of medicine La Timone, Marseille, France

Please send your application at contact@ms-nutrition.com